Image 2 (Pexels):

Summary:

Climate inaction is costing lives and crippling the economy, The Lancet Countdown 2025 Report warns; India's preparedness for a low-carbon transition declined by 2% in 2024, reflecting a worrying backslide in climate resilience, it said

Detailed analysis:

The Lancet report quantifies premature deaths from air pollution, underscoring the health cost of fossil-fuel reliance. For UPSC and state exams, note the link between air quality, public health, and climate policy, and the decline in India's low-carbon transition readiness – a potential discussion point for Environment-related papers.
