Nifty at Record High – Will It Crash or Keep Climbing? Experts Warn of Fatigue!

Image 1 (Real):

 Original Image

Image 2 (Pexels):

Summary:

Nifty closed at a lifetime high, gaining 1.10% last week and now trading between 26,000 and 26,500. Technicals show bullishness but also fatigue near the upper Bollinger band. The outlook suggests a steady start with a positive bias, though profit-taking may rise.

Detailed analysis:

Exam takers should grasp technical terms—Bollinger bands, resistance, support—and relate them to macro indicators like GDP growth and inflation that sustain market trends. This helps answer questions on market sentiment analysis.

Image 2 (Pexels):

Summary:

A 2-billion-year-old range has been battered and bruised by mining, waste dumping, and encroachment, say environmentalists and those who live in its shadow. The Supreme Court order accepting the changed definition of the Aravalli hills caused further worry, though it has since been stayed. Ishita Mishra reports on the people living in the foothills, who believe that decisions about the Aravallis should involve and benefit communities

Detailed analysis:

Highlights the clash between mineral extraction and heritage conservation, a key issue for environmental law and sustainable development exams. The Supreme Court's interim stay underscores judicial oversight in ecological disputes.
