Summary:

The tribunal has ordered all five southern States and the Union Territory of Puducherry to ensure time-bound implementation of their State Action Plans; these directions assume significance as it puts the spotlight on air pollution governance in the southern States — an issue that has largely been dominated by the northern regions, particularly Delhi-NCR

Detailed analysis:

The National Green Tribunal's directive emphasizes the fiscal accountability of state governments in implementing Clean Air Action Plans. Aspirants should note the role of the NGT, the structure of central and state responsibilities under the Air (Prevention and Control of Pollution) Act, and the relevance of "clean air funds" in financing mitigation measures. This is pertinent for questions on environmental governance, inter-governmental coordination, and policy implementation in the UPSC Mains and prelims.
