Scorching Summers Threaten India's Milk Miracle!

Image 1 (Real):

 Original Image

Image 2 (Pexels):

Summary:

Extreme heat means cows eat less, make less milk, struggle to conceive and produce fewer live offspring, experts say, while farmers spend more trying to keep animals cool and fertile.

Detailed analysis:

The article highlights how rising temperatures directly affect livestock productivity, a key indicator of climate-change impact on food security. For UPSC and state exams, note the link between heatwaves, reduced dairy output, and the need for adaptive farming practices such as cooling systems and altered breeding cycles.

Super-Weed-Resistant Mustard: Blessing or Bio-Bomb?

Image 1 (Real):

 Original Image

Image 2 (Pexels):

Summary:

Deepak Pental, a leading geneticist at the University of Delhi, said the technology must be managed with care to prevent the weeds from evolving their own resistance.

Detailed analysis:

Genetically engineered mustard can boost yields but raises resistance management issues. Exam takers should remember the biotech regulatory framework, the principle of stewardship, and the environmental risk of herbicide-resistant weeds under the 'Precautionary Principle' in Indian law.

Supreme Court Says Landlords Safe from Tenants' Pollution Crimes!

Image 1 (Real):

 Original Image

Image 2 (Pexels):

Summary:

The NGT, earlier, had held that owner could not be made to pay interim environmental damage compensation of ₹25 lakh for offences committed by the industrial unit operating on his rented premises.

Detailed analysis:

This judgment clarifies liability under the Environmental (Protection) Act and the NGT's jurisdiction. For legal and administrative exams, note that responsibility rests with the occupier/tenant unless the owner's negligence can be proven, shaping future industrial lease agreements.
