Summary:

A new analysis by the Centre for Research on Energy and Clean Air (CREA) has now confirmed what was always India's "worst-kept secret that the air quality is a nation-wide, structural crisis for which the government response is exceedingly ineffective and inadequate", Congress leader Jairam Ramesh said.

Detailed analysis:

Air-quality degradation remains a top priority for the Environment & Climate Change paper. Aspirants should note the gaps in policy implementation, the role of monitoring networks, and the health-impact statistics that often feature in essay questions.
