Iran Shatters $300 Million US Missile-Defense Radar – THAAD Crippled!

Image 1 (Real):

 Original Image

Image 2 (Pexels):

Summary:

The destruction of RTX Corp. AN/TPY-2 radar and support equipment — used by US THAAD missile defense systems, comes as US air and missile defence networks in the Gulf face sustained pressure from Iranian drone and ballistic missile attacks.

Detailed analysis:

The loss of a $300 million high-end radar not only weakens US defensive capabilities in the Gulf but also signals heightened geopolitical risk for defence contractors and insurers. Stock prices of aerospace firms may see volatility, while defence budgets could be re-allocated to replace the asset, potentially boosting orders for alternative systems.

Oil Set to Hit $100 a Barrel – War-Fueled Price Surge Looms!

Image 1 (Real):

 Original Image

Image 2 (Pexels):

Summary:

A week into one of the biggest ever disruptions to global energy markets, oil prices still remain far below levels seen in previous crises. But a growing chorus of energy executives and traders is warning that every day that war rages on brings the world closer to a tipping point.

Detailed analysis:

Continued hostilities in the Middle East threaten supply routes, especially the Strait of Hormuz, driving up crude prices. Higher oil costs will ripple through Indian inflation, affect the balance of payments, and could prompt the government to intervene in fuel pricing or import policies, impacting both consumers and businesses.

Government Says No Fuel Hike Even As Hormuz Strait Chokes!

Image 1 (Real):

 Original Image

Image 2 (Pexels):

Summary:

Government sources said fuel prices in India will not rise as the country's energy stock position improves. New Delhi has increased crude imports by 10% from sources outside the Strait of Hormuz to reduce supply risks.

Detailed analysis:

By bolstering crude inventories and diversifying import sources, the government aims to shield the economy from volatile oil markets. This decision supports consumer price stability, eases pressure on the CPI, and reassures businesses reliant on transport and logistics costs.

India Defies US Waiver, Says No Country Can Dictate Its Oil Purchases!

Image 1 (Real):

 Original Image

Image 2 (Pexels):

Summary:

India asserts its independence in energy procurement, rejecting US pressure to seek a waiver for buying Russian oil, emphasizing sovereign decision-making in strategic fuel imports.

Detailed analysis:

By maintaining Russian oil purchases, India safeguards its energy security and potentially benefits from lower-priced crude amid Western sanctions. This stance may attract scrutiny from the US but also signals to markets a stable supply strategy, which could temper domestic fuel price volatility.

Summary:

The ongoing US-Israel and Iran conflict has impacted West Asia airspace. IndiGo plans to operate flights to five destinations in the region on March 7, 2026, while Air India and SpiceJet are offering additional flights to support stranded passengers.

Detailed analysis:

Airline route disruptions raise operational costs and affect revenue streams, especially for carriers with significant Middle-East traffic. IndiGo's proactive rescue flights may capture market share and build brand goodwill, but overall, heightened geopolitical risk could dampen travel demand and increase insurance premiums for the aviation sector.

Stocks Plunge! Traders Urged to Go Defensive or Lose Everything

Image 1 (Real):

 Original Image

Image 2 (Pexels):

Summary:

Indian markets experienced a sharp downturn this week, with the Nifty closing significantly lower and testing a crucial 100-week moving average support. Rising volatility and weakening market breadth signal caution for investors. While some sectors like Infrastructure and Pharma show relative strength, others are under pressure, suggesting a defensive approach is advised.

Detailed analysis:

The Nifty's breach of the 100-week MA indicates heightened bearish bias. For exam aspirants, note the rise in volatility (VIX) and sectoral divergence—Infrastructure and Pharma as defensive bets. A defensive, stock-specific strategy (e.g., rotating into low-beta stocks) aligns with risk-management questions in UPSC/State PSC economics papers.
